

Call for Papers

Workshop on Empirical Monetary Economics 2014

December 8th, 2014

Sciences Po Paris, France

Objective

The purpose of this workshop is to bring together economists to discuss and promote topical empirical research on monetary economics. Both the financial crisis and the sovereign debt crisis raised important issues for the effectiveness of current monetary policies and for the conduct of future ones. Some particularly relevant topics are:

- → The transmission channels and macroeconomic effects of both conventional and unconventional monetary policies
- → Policymaking, communication strategies, the role of expectations and forward guidance
- → International monetary and financial system
- → Financial stability, macro-prudential tools and the conduct of monetary policy

The keynote speaker will be Paolo Surico (London Business School & CEPR). This one-day workshop will take place at Sciences Po in Paris on December 8th 2014, with a limited number of selected presenters.

Submissions

Authors must submit a full paper in PDF format to eme.workshop@sciencespo.fr no later than September 30th, 2014. Decisions of acceptance will be notified by mid-October 2014.

Organizers

Christophe Blot (OFCE - Sciences Po) & Paul Hubert (OFCE - Sciences Po)

Scientific Committee

Philippe Andrade (Banque de France)
Refet Gürkaynak (Bilkent University & CEPR)
Grégory Levieuge (University of Orléans)
Urszula Szczerbowicz (CEPII)

Financial Support

The workshop has received funding from the EU Seventh Framework Programme (FP7/2007-2013) under grant agreement n° 266800. The views expressed during the execution of this project, in whatever form and or by whatever medium, are the sole responsibility of the authors. The European Union is not liable for any use that may be made of the information contained therein.